Bandit Ruffles Carmel Calm

The quiet of Carmel's public library was shattered by a gunshot, screams and the sounds of violent struggle yesterday afternoon as Police Officer Ed Fischer aided by Malcolm Steele and Arthur Hull subdued a six-foot tall youth who was charged by Carmel police today with armed robbery at Derek Rayne's haberdashery; trying to hold up the Sprouse Reitz store and attempting to kill a police officer.

The young man taken into custody in the children's reading room is Gary Michael Clarke, 22, who was released on parole from Lompoc prison two months ago after serving 18 months on a Federal Reserve institute grand larceny charge.

Under questioning by Carmel police he verbally admitted to holdups in five other California cities. He favored McKinney shoe stores in these areas.

According to the Carmel police report, Clarke was wanted by San Jose police for armed robbery and attempting to kill a policeman. They received an all points bulletin Tuesday to this effect after Clarke allegedly held up a shoe store in the

'Give Forest Theater College Try .. Woof!'

The council, last night, listened to an appeal from Councilman Stephen Grant to give the Forest Theater "a good old college try, at least for a year," and a small dog made comments.

Next Wednesday, in an adjourned session, councilmen will decide whether or not to spend $8,000 to restore the outdoor theater, repair equipment, provide lighting and clean up the premises.

They will also consider whether it is desirable to repair the small theatre under the stage at a cost of $4,500.

Last night, Arts Commissioner Marjorie Wurzmahn pled for the latter work to be done. Her husband, Fritz Wurzmahn, representing the Community Theater, asked for similar action. He stated his group would make constant use of the theater-in-the-ground if it were repaired.

Cole Weston pressed for restoration of the entire premises. He would rent them, he said, if they were restored, as he has given up the old 680-seat theatre

Dreams Of Beer On Beach Fade

Reluctant votes from two councilmen last night gave unanimous approval to the amended ordinance which will deprive citizens of alcoholic refreshment of any kind on the beach. And they may not even carry or hold a can of beer or a bottle of wine on the sand.

The law which also bans drinking of alcoholic beverages on a public street, land, park or playground; public schools or school grounds; service station or parking lot, public assembly hall or library; the post office or anywhere in city hall.

"This is a watered down ordinance," Councilman Buffington declared, and implied the old ordinance really made Carmel a blue town. In it citizens were forbidden spirits in restaurants and bars.

Councilman Whittlesey admitted that the possession and consumption of alcoholic beverages, is not illegal and "nothing to be ashamed of." However, he inferred, things had gotten out of hand on the beach and "public behavior that had gone too far" must be controlled. He voted "Aye" but not with gusto.

Councilman Gunnar Norberg, lost in the nostalgia of past memories of "beer" dragged out an "Aye" and said it was "for the good of humanity."

Next Wednesday night, the council will give the "beer ban" second reading, and if approved, the law will be in effect.

The old ordinance may still be enforced in the meantime at least on the beach!

Dr. Kocher Closes One Door In His Life ... Others Open

by Marjory Lloyd

Last Friday Dr. Rudolph A. Kocher closed the door of his office on Lincoln Street and in so doing ended a medical practice that spanned four decades of Carmel life and was instrumental in establishing the Community Hospital of the Monterey Peninsula.

Retirement, however, will be for Dr. Kocher an opportunity to pursue other paths. He is a modern counterpart of the Renaissance man for his interests are many and embrace varied aspects of the culture of our era.

"I will have time to write more on nutrition and play in my garden," he says.

Already a book he has written on nutrition, "Our Daily Bread," is in the hands of a publisher. Its subtitle, "Food As An Agent in Man's Culture," is descriptive of conclusions drawn after years of unified study on the effects of food in the development of mankind through the ages. Research for this volume and other

Editor's Column

This has been homecoming week at the Pine Cone.

Clifford Cook is again the owner and publisher of this paper.

Monday he took over from the group to which he sold the paper and print shop two years ago. They were unable to keep up their payments to him and now have no association whatsoever with the business.

Cliff's wife, Mary, is back at her desk in the front office. It is her cheery voice that answers the telephone and greets all visitors. She handles the books, too, and is in charge of classified advertising.

Harry Fletcher, a man of many talents, is the new advertising manager of the Pine Cone, also poetry editor and philosophical columnist.

Carolyn Elstob is the chief gatherer of Pine Needles which are back in the paper after an absence of many months. She also uses her editorial abilities in many other capacities necessary to putting out a hometown paper.

Cliff says his chief aim is to rebuild the Pine Cone to its former status ... a publication worthy of Carmel ... and he has on his apron and is busy in the backshop working towards this goal.

I have come back to help everybody ... and I'm proud to be signing this column.

I relish new things. But nothing disengages nostalgic charm of old ladies and carriages. The grandest of motors, despite all discourses, are nevertheless not as regal as horses.

It's thrilling to jet fly from here to Calcutta, in time slightly more than a cough and a stutter. But what are we gaining when people are failing to savor the grace and enjoyment of sailing?

The comforts and ease of today's modern living are grand; but regard them with certain misgiving. We have to rely more on pills and prescriptions, with nerves shot to pieces in mass derelictions.

However, new people may still be alluring — new voices, new faces, and maidens demure in new dresses. New something to help me in waging this fast losing battle to keep me from aging.

Lions Clubs District Governors Meet Here

Sunday, Monday and Tuesday, 15 Lions Club governors from District 4 which includes California and Nevada, also the district's governors-elect, and the wives of both groups will be in Carmel.

The governors will hold a council at La Playa Hotel during the three days. Dr. Frank Granito, governor of the local district, will be the host. He will be assisted by two Lions international councillors, Dr. William F.

Coughlin and Anthony August. Finals of the district's student speaker contest will take place at La Playa Sunday afternoon.

Monday the governors and governors-elect will hold a business council. Their wives will explore Carmel and have lunch at Pine Inn.

In the evening, Dr. and Mrs. Granito will give a cocktail party for the visitors at their home in Carmel Meadows. The group will have dinner at Gobi Inn.

From A Librarian's Notebook

By Ruth Galvin Thornburg, City Librarian

The hard world of the drug addict, the woman drug addict, is only part of the terrible story told by John Hartis in The Junkie Priest, Father Daniel Egan, S.A. Mainly, it is the story of the work of Father Daniel Egan with drug addicts in Greenwich Village, work which culminated in the establishment of the Village Haven, a refuge for women with the drug habit. The conditions and the people described here seem almost unbelievable, but they are all true. The final chapter describes one day in the life of Father Egan. What a day, what a life, and what a man!

The Peace Corps is one of a series called The Reference Shelf which we receive on subscription and is a concise explanation of the corps, why it was organized, and what it is doing. Many people are intensely interested in The Peace Corps. Here are the answers to their questions.

Two new books on dogs we have this week. How to Trim, Groom and Show Your Dog is by Blanch Saunders. The text is arranged by breed of dog, there are drawings showing the various tools to be used, and the way to use them. A small book, but good. Another small book is The Secret of Cooking for Dogs by Martin Gardner. The recipes in this book describe food good enough to start the reader's salvation. We should all live so good! The illustrations by Clare Barnes are delightful, too.

Oscar Lewis who wrote Children of Sanchez has a new book entitled Pedro Martinez. This comes under the heading of a social survey, as did his earlier books. It is the story of a Mexican peasant and his family, told first by one member of the family and then by another. Great poverty in a primitive society as it begins to recognize the fact that technological changes are going on in the rest of the world.

Dr. Richard Armour (of Scripps College, Claremont, California) has done it again! His light verse with a punch has delighted his many readers for years. His latest is called Our Presidents, and all of our Presidents are here, with drawings by Leonard Fisher. The verse meter changes, but there is always a punch line and there is solid thinking behind these little poems.

Because of the fair, a spate of books about New York is threatening to drown us all. This week we have a good one called New York: True North by Gilbert Millstein, with photographs by Sam Falk. Many people speak through this book. Called witnesses by its editors, these people speak of the city they love and tell of its greatness and its smallness and what it means to live and work in it. Falk's two hundred photographs are powerful and fascinating.

By sheer happenstance, we have five new mysteries this week, a great time for the fans. Remember the McNaughton collection when you want new fiction. We get it there on the day it is published, and put it right out for circulation. McNaughton is the fastest there is and the collection is shelved on a double-faced truck near the circulation desk. Browse.

Two Operettas At Sunset June 11

Bringing student activities to close on a gay note, fifth and sixth graders of Sunset School will present two operettas next Thursday evening in Sunset Auditorium at 7:30 o'clock.

With the entire student body of 225 participating in both operettas, parents and their friends, all invited without charge, are promised a gala entertainment.

"Tom Sawyer" (in three acts) based on the Mark Twain story will be presented by the sixth grade. Soloists will be, Jo Alberts as "Aunt Polly"; Robert Frey as "Ben Rogers"; Rocky Drobeck in the role of "Huck"; Darien Hopkins as "Becky"; Valerie Scott as "Amy"; Derik Cotchett will be seen as "Joe" and Jim Schaeffer will appear in the title role.

Fifth grade students appearing in the principal roles of "Who Stole the Tarts," based on Mother Goose and Storybook characters will be: John Duhring, "Jack O'Hearts"; Peggy Mast, "Bo-Peep"; Ted Fenley, "Tommy Tucker"; Doug McCall, "King O'Hearts." Also, "Queen O'Hearts," Jerri Masten; "Nimble Toes," Paul Harris and as "King Cole," John Bradley.

The operettas are under the direction of Miss Jo Brazell, assisted by Miss Nancy Loyd. Miss Loyd is a San Jose State College drama major who will be teaching at Sunset School next Fall.

Sunset School will close for summer vacation on Friday, June 12. There will be no formal closing exercises. Sixth grade "graduates" will go on to Carmel Junior High School.

Judge Eldred Speaks In Carmel Sunday

Judge Richard C. Eldred, member of the legislative committee of the California School Boards Association; Justice of the Peace for Pacific Grove and an active member of the Pacific Grove School Board will give the "lay sermon" at the Church-in-the-Round next Sunday morning, in Carmel American Legion Hall at 11 o'clock.

Particularly timely, Judge Eldred's topic will be "Schools and Juvenile Delinquency" with emphasis upon adult responsibilities both at home and in school. With his wealth of background and human experience in law, education and contact with family problems, Judge Eldred's address promises to be informative and thought provoking.

The service will be followed by an informal coffee hour. The interested public are invited to attend, to ask questions and express opinions.

work has resulted in Dr. Kocher being listed in "American Men of Science" for contributions to biological science.

And his garden in which he is going to "play"? It covers three acres of a Carmel Highlands hillside. Only Golden Gate Park contains a greater number of rhododendrons. There are over 500 of these plants in Dr. Kocher's garden. Most of the over 100 varieties he has grown from seed sent from many parts of the world ... a painstaking process.

He also grows cymbidium orchids in his greenhouse and garden. This hobby began when he was given 100 seedlings. He nurtured them for five years before they bloomed.

Another retirement project is a trip to Europe next Spring. On their last trip a few years ago, Dr. Kocher and his wife, Betty, visited famous gardens in the British Isles and on the continent and Dr. Kocher took over 300 color photographs of plants and blossoms.

Photography is another of his interests. As a pupil of the late Edward Weston, he studied the latter's techniques and learned to process film in his own dark room. The resulting prints are outstanding.

Music has played an important part in Dr. Kocher's life. He was one of the first members of the Carmel Music Society and served two terms as president while on the board of directors of this organization. For years the annual party of the society was enlivened by "Koch's" witty dramatic satires on the season's performers.

He has attended almost all the Bach Festivals and taken a keen interest in the development of the Monterey County Symphony.

"I was Chief of the Pirates in the 'Pirates of Penzance' at the Forest Theater," he remembers.

The tenth in a family of 12 children ("just like Benjamin Franklin") Dr. Kocher was born in San Jose of Swiss and New England parentage. He graduated from high school in his native city, then entered Stanford University.

After commuting by train from San Jose to Palo Alto, he rode a bicycle to the university.

"No motor vehicles were allowed on the campus," he recalls.

At Stanford, "Koch" won a Block S as a pole vaulter three times.

"The San Francisco earthquake cancelled the track season one year so I didn't win four," he says.

After Stanford, Dr. Kocher enrolled in medical school at Johns Hopkins University. At the end of his first year he went to Leipzig, Germany, to study pathology and advanced anatomy. He earned his Atlantic passage by working as a stoker on a coal burning boat. Two years after his return he completed his medical studies at Johns Hopkins and helped finance this education by teaching boxing at an exclusive Baltimore boys' school.

Then he went back to Germany for two years and was an intern and resident physician at the General Hospital of the University of Munich, also served as assistant to Dr. Fredrich Muller, famed internist.

Following this he was an instructor and did medical research at the University of California Hospital in San Francisco for two years until he enlisted in the U.S. Army during World War I.

Because of research he had done on utilizing wood waste to make alcohol, he was sent to Dearborn, Michigan, by the Ford Foundation to pursue this research. At the end of the war, he became an instructor at the University of Michigan before practicing as an internist in San Diego for five years.

On September 1, 1925, Dr. Kocher opened an office in Carmel. One of his patients, Grace Deere Velie, became interested in establishing a metabolic clinic in Northern California. She asked Dr. Kocher to find a location in this area.

"I tramped the hills until I found the most beautiful site. It was a meadow above Carmel with views of Point Lobos and the Valley," Dr. Kocher remembers.

Architect Gardner Dailey designed the clinic of which Dr. Kocher became director. Patients came from all over the nation.

The clinic received an endowment of half a million dollars in Mrs. Velie's will. This was contested on a technicality and the clinic lost the bequest.

Then came the Depression. Trustees decided the clinic should be sold.

Dr. Kocher had an idea. He gave a dinner party for 25 Peninsula physicians.

"Would you like to have a community hospital here?" he asked them during the party.

This question led to the raising of funds to add a surgery and an obstetrical wing to the clinic and establishment of the Community Hospital.

The original hospital was sold to help finance the new Community Hospital of the Monterey Peninsula several years ago and is now a convalescent home. The price realized ($500,000) was more than the original building cost.

"It was a good investment," is Dr. Kocher's observation.

Except for service as a major in the U.S. Army Medical Service during World War II for four years, Dr. Kocher has practiced and lived here for 39 years. During his war service he was assistant chief of medical services at Letterman General Hospital in San Francisco and Bushnell General Hospital in Utah, then went overseas to be chief of the 203rd General Hospital in England and France. After the war in Europe ended, he spent three months as general preceptor at the Edinburgh Royal Infirmary in Scotland, then came back to Carmel and resumed the practice which he ended last week.

However, the door that closed Friday just finished one phase of a vital and interesting man's life. Dr. Kocher is now free to explore new fields, work further in familiar ones.

He is a Renaissance man.

CAMPFIRE PERMITS NOW MANDATORY

Before any type of fire is built, or used, within national forest boundaries, a permit must be obtained, Los Padres National Forest supervisor William H. Hansen warns.

This includes gasoline, kerosene, liquid gas or wood burning stoves and portable braziers.

Permits can be obtained free of charge at any Forest Service station.

DOWN TO THE SEA

BY LES BOSSHARDT, Master Mariner

"I must go down to the seas again,
To the lonely sea and the sky." — MASEFIELD

OUR LOSS HONOLULU'S GAIN

The other day Bruce Harris, owner Skipper of the able two-mast schooner yacht "ALTURA" visited the Pilot House on the wharf. We had a fine gam about this, and that. Bruce, among other things, told me that he is taking ALTURA to Honolulu about the middle of this month. Well a lot more of our small craft voyagers have made the crossing in the last two years. With Bruce it is different, along with his family this move to the islands is a permanent one as Bruce is going to work over there. Monterey loses a fine contractor and the marina loses a fine boat. We will miss Bruce and his fine ship hereabout.

ABOUT FOOD

Hardly a day goes by that I am not in Frank's Torpedo Junction eating something or other. If you sit around long enough, in will come some of the material upon which this piece is built. What more appropriate subject than food, inasmuch as Chi Cha, Frank's wife makes the best hamburger in the northern hemisphere. Herb Caen moans about not being able to get a good burger in all of San Francisco. My advice to this bucco is to visit wharf #2 and drop in at the Junction. The spot this sailor eats in with great regularity is of all places located in the Carmel Valley and 12 miles from where I live in Carmel. The place, The Cottage Inn, owned and run by Mrs. Vernon, who also does the cooking, if you crave some real down to earth food and you are fortunate enough to get a reservation my advice to all of my shipmates on the waterfront as well as my many landmen friends is to try this spot. You'll recognize Mrs. Vernon by her hair-do she has, just forward of her starboard and port ears, two curls that we ancients used to refer to as spit curls, they really look like two small ends of line partially coiled. Just thought my Hearties that you would be interested. Think if I try hard enough I can get a good old fashioned Lobscouse square rigger style at the Cottage. Quality rates praise.

BACK TO SCHOOL

Chris Arcoleo and Nick Lem-on, party boat skippers in Monterey are enrolled for a course in Small Craft navigation and operation at the Monterey Peninsula Maritime School located on wharf #2. They are taking one of the Monterey boats from the party boat fleet hereabout to Ventura where they will operate on offshore party trips to the areas of the offshore Channel Islands. The license they hold now does not permit offshore operation of more than 20 miles distance. The boys are going to sit for a license issued to successful candidates taking the U.S. Coast Guard examinations held in San Francisco. This license is an OCEAN OPERATOR'S LICENSE and enables the operator to cover a lot of the Pacific Ocean. Now we lose another boat from this area.

WEATHERWISE

The low front that has been hanging around us for the past few days has finally moved on into Nevada. We are on the fringe of a vast high pressure belt. There are no weak fronts off shore at present. We can look forward to a fair week-end with less fog or overcast both Saturday and Sunday. Temperatures should be higher and winds from the North West blowing at a moderate rate.

8 BELLS WATCH BELOW

Clyde R. Klaumann, Jr., sixth grade teacher at Sunset School, has been selected to attend Harvard-Lexington summer session for seven weeks starting June 22.

He will join a selected group of elementary teachers from schools throughout the nation to study modern curriculum practices.

Mr. Klaumann is a graduate of the Carmel school system and was an outstanding athlete at Carmel High. His parents are Carmel Police Chief Clyde R. Klaumann and Mrs. Klaumann.

The high reading class of Sunset School, taught by Mrs. Priscilla Nesbitt, will spend periods of one hour reading for fourth graders at River and Woods School during the last week of this school year. They will travel by bus to the two schools on different days.

On the last day of school, June 12, Sunset students will be dismissed at 2:15 p.m.

It has been made official that senior citizens may call the Social Security offices in Salinas, from Carmel, free of charge. The number is 373-2493, Salinas.

SAM FARR

With Peace Corps In Colombia

Today, Samuel S. Farr leaves from New York with a group of 26 Peace Corps volunteers who will live and work in the barrios (slums) of Bogota, Cali, Medellin, Barranquilla and other cities of Colombia. Tuesday he left Carmel after a week's visit here with his parents, Senator and Mrs. Fred Farr.

Colombia, at present, has the largest Peace Corps program in the world, developed and administered in cooperation with CARE.

Sam and other members of his group will get to know the local inhabitants in the areas to which they are assigned and help them to define their problems and work towards solutions. This may involve organizing an action committee, building a health community or activities center, or establishing good environmental sanitation or nutrition practices.

The group trained for 12 weeks at Columbia University's school for social work in New York receiving intensive instruction in Spanish. They also studied the history and culture of Colombia, reviewed United States history, world affairs, took training and practice in the techniques of community development.

Sam graduated with a bachelor's degree in psychology from Willamette University in Oregon a year ago and is a graduate of Sunset and Carmel High schools.

Color Slides Show At Town House

India and Ceylon will be the subject of a travel talk, illustrated by colored slides to be given two identical performances at Carmel Foundation Town House next Wednesday afternoon at 1:30 and at 3 o'clock, by Mrs. E. T. Todd.

Mr. and Mrs. Todd traveled to Karachi and back by freighter, last year. During the three and a half months trip they took many side excursions into lesser known villages and hamlets, taking pictures as they went. The pictures and the Todds' observations are especially timely, with the fate of India and its people headline news round the world.

BARBER SHOP SINGERS SEEK MORE MEMBERS

President Leon Stutzman announces that the Monterey Peninsula Barbershoppers are actively seeking new members in the chapter chorus. Special educational programs have been scheduled on June 9 and 16 to indoctrinate prospective members about the world's largest musical society. Technical definition of four-part vocal harmony will be demonstrated by the chapter's popular and well known quartet, The Plus Four. Entertainment will also be provided by the chapter chorus and guest quartets.

Men interested in singing old songs are invited to attend these special programs. Neither the reading of music nor previous musical knowledge is necessary for membership.

The special educational programs will be held at 8 p.m. at Del Rey Oaks City Hall on Canyon Del Rey. Additional information may be obtained by calling Chuck Nicoloff at 624-1974.

New Shows At Art Association

A one-man show of oil paintings by Jane Buffington will be shown in the small gallery of the Carmel Art Association today through June 2.

At the same time the Beardsley Room will be given over to a retrospective exhibition of work by Edda Heath, one of the founders of the Carmel Art Association. This exhibit will run three weeks, to be followed by a week's showing of rental pictures.

Today also was the opening date of a new membership show in the main gallery. Walter Landaker was chairman of the hanging committee.

Open Art Exhibition At Seaside Saturday

An art exhibition sponsored by the Seaside Art Commission is scheduled to be held on the East sidewalk in front of the MBS department store in Seaside, on Saturday, June 6, from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m.

This is to be an unjudged show, and open to all. Artists will be responsible for their own pictures, it was stated by Mrs. Minerva Glover at the City of Seaside offices, where further information may be obtained by dialing 372-4514. There will be someone from the Seaside Art Commission on duty all day. Pictures should have artist's

Jay Allen Speaks At Stanford University

The Spanish War (1936-39) and its background was the basis of a talk by Jay Allen at Stanford University on Thursday of last week.

He spoke and led discussion at Bolivar House for a seminar attended by graduate students of the Institute of Hispanic American and Luso-Brazilian Studies. The institute publishes a monthly magazine of reports and analyses called the Hispanic American Report.

A former foreign correspondent in Europe at various times for the Chicago Daily News, Chicago Tribune, Esquire Syndicate and North American Newspaper Alliance, Mr. Allen now lives in Carmel.

Sets Wedding Date

News from Mrs. Demass Berne is that her daughter Janice Way will walk up the aisle of St. John's Episcopal Chapel with Michael Farlinger on August 15.

Janice came to Carmel as a tiny girl from Washington, D.C. where she was born. She attended Carmel's Sunset and High Schools, took her junior year off for study in Europe, then returned to graduate with her C.H.S. class. Always intensely interested in medicine and surgery, upon graduation from high school Janice went to San Francisco and attended the Bay City School for Physicians' Assistants. She will graduate this month but stay on in the city for one month's internship, returning to her Carmel home in mid-July.

Michael is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William James Farlinger of Monterey. He attended Monterey schools and Monterey Peninsula College, his major interest being business administration and merchandising. Michael is currently taking the executive training course in the Emporium department store.

Sandy's Birthday

Sandy Allan (his real name is Alexander MacMillen Allan), son of Mrs. A. M. Allan of Pt. Lobos, celebrated his 12th birthday last weekend with a house-party. Six of Sandy's pals were his guests in the cabin where they held strictly stag over-night festivities. They were fortified by a great birthday cake, the handiwork and gift of Sandy's great-aunt, Mrs. L. J. Hudson.

The young guests were, Michael Mahoney, Phil Di Giralmo, Denny Shea, Brad Lang and the twins, Rich and Bobby Calcagno.

Shaws' Travels

Word from Will and Virginia Shaw is that they have bought a car and were driving through the hill towns of Northern Italy this week. Next they will drive along the Mediterranean coast to Nice, France, then proceed to Geneva, Switzerland.

They will travel through the Burgundy region of France and follow the Loire Valley on their way to Paris. On June 19, they sail from Le Havre for New York and expect to be back in Carmel by the Fourth of July.

Honor Graduate

Stan Gray, son of Dr. and Mrs. K. Fillmore Gray, has returned to Carmel after graduating from Wasatch Academy in Mt. Pleasant, Utah, where he received a major share of the honors given. As one of the four winners of academic honors, he was a speaker at the commencement on May 25. In addition, the faculty voted him one of the Honoris Gratia winners for citizenship, service and leadership; and the students voted him one of the five Student League Awards, given to those who contributed most to the school.

Stan was also chosen to receive the Danforth Foundation award for leadership, courage and vision. The Kinema cup for drama was awarded him, too, and recognition was given for his winning the State Drama meet for the second year (this April with Edward Albee's one act play "The Zoo Story.") He served this past year as student body president.

Stan will enter Stanford University in September on a scholarship.

He is a graduate of Sunset School. His older brother, Stephen, also graduated from Sunset and Wasatch and is now completing his junior year in the school of pharmacy at the University of the Pacific in Stockton.

Dr. and Mrs. Gray were in Mt. Pleasant for the commencement weekend at the conclusion of a month's vacation trip which had taken them to Washington, D.C. and New York.

Phi Beta Kappa

A Carmel High School graduate, James Woolfenden, is one of the 100 graduating seniors at Stanford University who has been elected to Phi Beta Kappa. This group has maintained a 3.7 or higher grade average out of a possible 4.0 during three previous undergraduate years.

Burro Trip

Mr. and Mrs. Samuel F. Haskins of Los Angeles are occupying their Carmel home on north Camino Real. Mary Haskins and Betty Washburn plan on June 15 to start a five-day hike with burros from Arroyo Seco across the Santa Lucia range to the coast. The trip will serve as a survey for a similar expedition to be taken later in the summer by a group of Girl Scouts.

Kristi McKenney Born

Mr. and Mrs. A. Carol McKenney III (Kathie von Meier) welcomed a fourth child on May 26. They have named their new daughter Kristi Marian. Her sisters are Erin, 13, and Gael, nine years old. A. Carol McKenney IV, 11, is her brother.

Kristi's grandmother, Mrs. Julian von Meier of Carmel, was in Greenridge, Castro Valley, to welcome her new grandchild. Dr. A. Carol McKenney, Kristi's grandfather, is returning this month from a year's travel in Europe and plans to stop to see her before coming home to Pebble Beach.

Bon Voyage Party

Mr. and Mrs. Alastair McKay gave a small dinner party in their home last Friday evening to wish Gilbert and Louise Boyer bon voyage. Among the guests were Mrs. Elizabeth Kan-evski and Dr. and Mrs. Don Parker, now living on their estate, "Coastlands" in the Big Sur. The Boyers left by plane yesterday for South America where they plan to make an extended stay.

Ponies for Party

Mary Sarah, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Allan Hudson, celebrated her 11th birthday last Saturday, with ten schoolmates as her guests. A beach cookout was climaxed by a magnificent birthday cake, the creation of Mary Sarah's grandmother, Mrs. L. J. Hudson of Point Lobos. The cake, plus tri-color ice-cream, was served in Mrs. Hudson's garden. A final grand surprise was the arrival of big sister, Peggy Hudson, with three frisking ponies for the young guests to ride. Included in the guest list were, Sally Hudson, Tony Henderson, Sharon and Denise Rogers, Sebré Olow, Carol Kolb, Susan Reimers, Brig-et Sanders and Jean Haltiner.

South America Cruise

Mr. and Mrs. John Powels, currently enjoying the wonders of the World's Fair in New York will sail this week-end for a cruise along the coast of South America and through the Panama Canal. They plan to reach their summer home in northern Michigan in mid-July and will return to Carmel in October.

Scandinavia Tour

Planning to visit the New York Fair in mid-June, Mrs. Ramona Gahl will sail from New York for a tour of the Scandinavian countries early in July.

Governor's Appointee

Miss Bessie C. Irvin of Carmel Valley was reappointed to the Regional Water Pollution Control Board of the central coastal region on Monday by Governor Edmund G. Brown. Miss Irvin represents the public on the board. She is a member of the board of directors of the League of Women Voters.

Carmel Meadows And Monterey Gardens On M.P.V.S. Tour

Monterey Peninsula Volunteer Services will present their 13th Annual House and Garden Tour for the benefit of the Visiting Nurse Association on July 15 from 10 a.m. until 5 p.m. This year the tour follows the theme, "From the Monterey Mesa to Carmel Meadows" and includes eight outstanding gardens, as well as the interiors of five homes reflecting the personalities and interests of the owners.

Gardens in the Monterey Mesa emphasize the Colonial details of the residence of Mrs. C. R. Tucker; a huge garden patio at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Paul Messier; the tropical setting for the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Sol Cerrito; the traditional Spanish influence of both the garden and interior at Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Dougherty's home.

A Continental Coffee will be served in Fellowship Court in the Monterey Mesa from 10 a.m. until 12:30 p.m. Mrs. Edward Langston and Mrs. Leonard Redfield are presenting the coffee for the enjoyment of tour visitors. Mrs. C. M. Jett, president; Mrs. Earl M. Oren, vice-president; Mrs. Charles H. Conley, project administrator; and Mrs. Roland W. Scheffler, garden tour chairman, will serve as official hostesses.

The gardens and interiors of properties owned by Mr. and Mrs. Frank Elton, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Jackson, Dr. and Mrs. C. H. McIntyre and Mrs. Thomas Duncan will be featured in Carmel Meadows. These homes offer interesting contrasts in modern, contemporary, traditional and Oriental decor.

Tickets ($2.50) are available at all Carmel and Monterey flower shops; by writing ticket chairman, Box 2004, Carmel; or by phoning Mrs. August Nieto, 624-7051 or Mrs. Stanley Greb 375-3726.

Chairmen assisting Mrs. Scheffler in presentation of the 1964 House and Garden Tour include Mrs. Charlotte Wight, treasurer; publicity, Mrs. J. Arthur Weeks; ticket and flier design, Mrs. Carl Hering; brochure, Mrs. L. R. Purcell; advertising, Mrs.

Esther Williams; mailing, Mrs. S. Y. Cutler; typing, Mrs. A. B. Holdridge; Mrs. Archer Allen, hostess chairman; Miss Clara Weston, guest books; Mrs. Thomas H. Bradley, properties; Mrs. Charles Conley, traffic; and Mrs. Charles Fishel, transportation.

Mrs. A. Boyd Mewborn will be in charge of the operation of the Thrift Shop at 785 Broadway, Seaside from noon until 4 p.m. on the day of the tour.

A. MacArthur

A. Neil MacArthur, for 20 years an inspector in the fruit and vegetable division of California State Department of Agriculture, died on May 28 in a local hospital after a brief illness. He was 75 years old.

Mr. MacArthur was born in the Province of Quebec, Canada, on October 10, 1888. He and his wife Elise, were married in Oakland on January 3, 1931. Following Mr. MacArthur's retirement, they came from Oakland to live in Carmel in 1949. Their home was at San Pedro Lane and San Luis Road in Carmel Woods.

A member of All Saints' Episcopal Church, Mr. MacArthur had served as a vestryman and was active in the work of the parish. He also was a member of the California State Employees Association.

He is survived by his wife. Private funeral services, conducted by the Reverend David Hill, rector of All Saints' Church, were held on May 29 in the Paul funeral chapel. Inurnment was in the family niche in the Chapel of Chimes, Oakland.

The Sur Coast

By ELIZABETH FULLER JONES

Emlimar is the name new owners have given to the lovely old landmark in the Coastlands area of Big Sur formerly known as the Voss residence. Last year (on Christmas Day) Dr. and Mrs. Don H. Parker of Evanston, Illinois, purchased the spacious, modified Monterey style home, situated on four and one-half acres of the rolling coastal hills.

"I loved this place the first time I saw it," says Dr. Parker, "and I continue to love it more and more."

In the months since purchase, the Parkers have completed their business and personal affairs in the Chicago area, and moved here three weeks ago. Each day they are finding new joy and new beauty on the well landscaped acres. From every part of the house, terrace and grounds, there are long views south and west, along the dramatic coastline, and eastward to the ridge of the gold and green Santa Lucias.

Dr. Parker, author, lecturer and consultant of multilevel curriculum planning, finds in his new surroundings the ideal place to carry on his specialized work in the field of education. Mrs. Parker, who has had 22 years of teaching experience, assists her husband in his research and planning of his multilevel reading laboratories. Don Parker's method of teacher-education, based upon the individual needs of the learner, is well known in this field. This summer he will teach a special course at Columbia University, New York. He recently completed a European tour introducing his method into schools in Scotland, Spain and Sweden. "Schooling For Individual Excellence," his latest book, just off the press, was reviewed in the May issue of the California Teacher's Association magazine. Who's Who of America considers Dr. Parker, and his work of such importance, that he has been included in the latest edition.

At Emlimar, (the name which the Parkers took pleasure in "making up," and incorporates the first letters of "multilevel instruction," and "mar" for the sea) and here in Big Sur, "where the individual life is not only tolerated, but encouraged," says Dr. Parker, "I find the perfect place to go forward with multilevel learning."

The Parkers are appreciative of the years of labor and love that went into the planning and building of the coastal estate they now proudly possess. Thirty years ago, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Voss began to literally carve out the sagebrush, build their home, and mold, plant and encourage the lovely terraced gardens and orchard of almond, apricot, plum, quince and fig trees, that are now bringing such delight to the new owners.

SCHOOL PROGRAM

The three Sur Coast schools, Palo Colorado, Captain Cooper and Pacific Valley, will hold a physical education activities program at the Captain Cooper School grounds tomorrow morning. In the afternoon, students from the Pacific Valley School will have a field trip to the Point Sur Light Station and boys and girls from the other two schools will spend the afternoon at Pfeiffer Big Sur State Park. On the last day of school, June 12, parents and friends of the school are planning a community "get-together" at the State Park beginning at 2:00 o'clock. There will be a weiner roast and pot luck supper in the late afternoon. Everyone is invited.

CAPTAIN COOPER SIGN

A handsome new sign reading "CAPTAIN COOPER SCHOOL" has recently been placed at the north side of the entrance gate on Highway One. The sign represents the combined thought and work of Harry Dick Ross, who carved the raised letters; Grover Meyrose and Samuel Hopkins who installed the sign; and Bill Fassett who donated the redwood timber. Mr. Ross carved another sign reading "NATURE WALK" which designates the beginning of a new nature trail on the school property. For some weeks Mr. and Mrs. Hans Ewoldsen, long time residents of Big Sur and friends of the school, have been cutting new trails on the extraordinarily beautiful school grounds to be used by the students in their nature study work. The Ewoldsens have spent many hours and days of loving labor, working at the school, in an area that they know well. Mrs. Ewoldsen, a member of the pioneer Big Sur Pfeiffer family, has a degree in botany and has shared her knowledge generously, in the nature study project.

MUSIC OF THE DESERT

A silent desert traveled with us.
From organ pipes came no sound.
Even the birds had ceased to sing.
Golden coins sprinkled the ground.
The barrel cactus had a bright ring.
Ocotillos waved red flags.
Shrub and tree were a welter of flowers;
Verbena, a purple haze; and my heart
Welled with the music of those quiet hours.
M. M. HEINSON
Berkeley, Calif.

CHERISHED DREAM

It is one of my most cherished dreams
To live so close to the inner seams
Of Nature's robe of colors and gleams

That I may know, by sniffing air,
With more than a meteorologist's flair,
That rain will be our weathery fare,

Study soil that is bare and browned
And, with a sense beyond sight and sound,
Feel that a shoot is breaking ground,

In silence bare of a breath or word,
Be sure that heaven will soon be stirred
By paeans of wind or songs of a bird,

And look at sky like jewels on char
Aware that fingers, pointed afar,
Are about to toss a shooting star.

LORI PETRI
Novato, Calif.

COMPENSATION

Those moments of exquisite pleasure,
Though transcendent, we could not explain
Why they held, although brief, a full measure
Of joy, beyond sentient domain.
I love you; and though it's through tear-drops,
I see in fond vision, your smile;
Life is sweeter and richer for knowing
And loving you—just for a while.

GRACE R. BALLARD
Santa Barbara, Calif.

ESCAPE

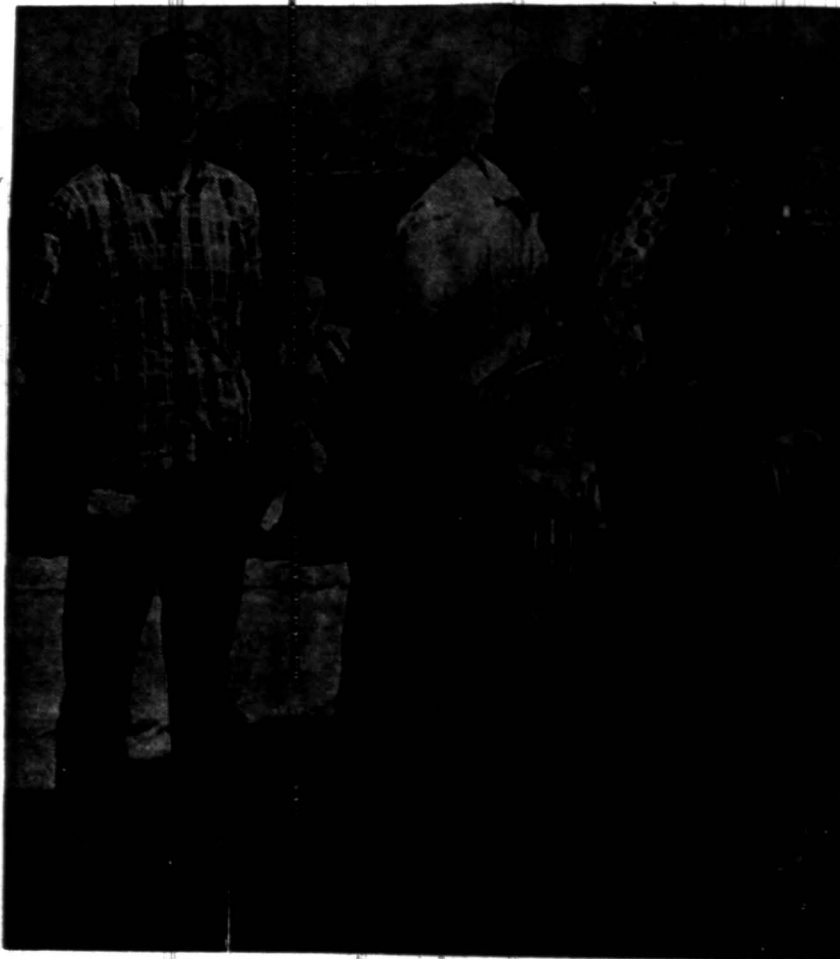

In solitary hours of utmost need
I blithely mount my trusty winged steed...
Away we fly to many a fabled strand,
Sahara, Gobi, Cairo, Samarkand.

Encompassed, disenchanted, torn by care
Where prejudice and hate pollute the air,
It's then my senses swoon beneath the spell
Of frankincense and myrrh and asphodel.

To all the clatter of the world I'm in,
The raucous throats of jets, the human din,
My ears I close, and in the silence hear
The silver bells of camels drawing near.

At no price may this sylphic gift be bought,
The power to be at will where one is not.

Carmelite Outstanding In Folk Festival Hootenanny

The Monterey Folk Festival 1964 has come and gone. While it was with us there were some great songs sung and great music played. This probably surprised the promoters since they seemed shy about advertising the event.

For those of us who attended there were some really rewarding experiences. Opening Friday night in the hall at the Fairgrounds entrance was a hootenanny by performers who weren't actually billed on the festival calendar.

Lou Gottlieb, well-known as a member of the recently disbanded Limelights, enlivened the show. He treated the audience to many gems of wit in his own subtle, easy way. The first performers were a foursome of Blue Grass boys called The Hillmen, playing bass, banjo, mandolin and guitar.

It wasn't hard to pick the outstanding performers. For some strange reason there is a great gulf between real talent and run of the mill entertainers. Among the groups performing, The Hillmen and The Bell Chantymen stood out. The latter were five young collegiates with a happy, sophisticated sound.

The most impressive female soloists were Dewey Dutton who, having spent 10 years in Mexico, specializes in Mariachi styling, and Eleanor Wallace, a local girl who writes her own songs.

Undoubtedly the best male solo act of Friday evening was that of Kit Snow of Carmel. The highlight of his presentation was his inimitable styling of a song which he had written. This is a moving little ballad, "Old Blue," about a boy and his dog. An exceptionally talented guitarist and singer, he held the audience spellbound. Kit Snow has that almost indefinable something that it takes to "make it."

Saturday night's session got off to a fine start with the versatile musicianship of the Stoneman Family. Old Pop Stoneman, who plays the autoharp, certainly passed on to his large brood the love of country music that he so obviously has. Daughter Ronnie is one of the best banjo players I have ever heard, while the eldest boy is a fiddle player of outstanding ability. It is amazing to see him play in every possible contorted position, behind his back, between his legs, even holding the bow with his feet. This nice family really made a joyful noise, and the audience loved it.

Next came Long Gone Miles, who shouted the blues to the backing of Willie Chamber's guitar and Leroy Vinegar's bass. He seemed to have his following on hand.

The audience was treated to the fabulous Canadian pair, Ian and Sylvia. Many will remember them from the TV show, "Hootenanny." This duo has a marvelous feel for most of the different folk music idioms, from mountain to big city blues. Their a cappella rendition of "Down By The Greenwood Side" was weirdly beautiful. The strange chanting reminded me of a style indigenous to the more inaccessible communities in the Irish countryside, where the "Carmaille" singers compete by singing at each other for hours on end.

Second to the end we were enchanted by the pure singing of that lovely lady, Judy Collins. Judy's singing and guitar playing were a joy indeed. She deserves the high place she holds in the hearts of all who love the art.

Putting a great finish to a great show, the team of Bud and Travis, with their sensational bassist Buck Wheat, gave a performance that won't soon be forgotten by the appreciative crowd. These two very personable fellows quipped, played and sang their way on a musical tour from France to Mexico. Their delivery was crisp and flawless, with a roundness that only dedicated practice can impart.

To strike a jarring note, and also to absolve the vast majority of fine people who follow and love folk music, I feel it is necessary to point out that the perpetrators of the disturbances which mar such an occasion as this are a hard core of Strange Creatures who like to think of themselves as "Beats." This breed is usually recognizable by their attire, typically centered around an old Indian horse blanket, variously matched with cowboy boots, buckskin chaps, and a coonskin cap. A beard and hair of uncertain outline is also prominent. It's a real shame that the fine art of folk music is plagued by this small, but loud, canker.

It is worthy of note that all of the finest artists in these fields are clean, personable, nice people. It is our sincere hope that someday the undesirable el-

'Patience' Delights First Nighters At Golden Bough Circle Theatre

It sparkles! The Golden Bough Circle Theatre production of Gilbert and Sullivan's "Patience, or Bunthorne's Bride" opened last Friday evening. To those in the capacity audience long familiar with the melodious ballads, the inimitable patter, the puns and the romancing, every moment was filled with nostalgic delight. For younger members of the audience it must have been a revelation, surprising proof that a love story can be told without resorting to the psychiatrist's couch; that maidens can yearn without resorting to mayhem; and that music, on key and in classic tempo, can prove irresistible.

Producer Frederick Rider, with designer and director Ted Huffman have done a magnificent job—in casting as well as direction. The set, a four-step square platform, allowing 26 actors, actresses and dancers to perform with freedom and ease within the confines of the theater-in-the-round, was an amazing achievement.

The cast was worthy of top praise that may be given to any local production, anywhere. It was highly professional.

As the love-shy "Patience," Harriet Bird, a newcomer to the Circle, gave a beautiful performance. From her first solo onward, the audience was hers. Her well trained voice had warmth while her interpretation of the unawakened maiden was within the classic tradition.

Frederick Rider in the role of the aesthetic "Bunthorne" was really superlative. Clad in black velvet and white Irish lace and dandling a calla lily, Mr. Rider strolled through a part that would have defeated a less sensitive and experienced actor. His soliloquies were worthy of Narcissus; his rendition of Gilbert's tongue-twisting patter was hilarious.

Chief dispenser of comedy, verging on "slapstick," was the inimitable Ruth Crews. A rare comedienne as well as a fine vocalist, Ruth, as the lovelorn "Lady Jane" sent the spellbound audience into paroxysms of glee.

"Archibald Grosvenor," the fop, irresistible to maidens, hopelessly in love with "Patience," was played with polish and assurance by James Hull. Possessor of a delightful voice, Charlotte Boger made a charming "Lady Angela."

Van Marsh as "Colonel Calverly," Paul Ransom as "Major Murgatroyd" and John Soprano as the "Duke of Dunstable" were terrific in the scarlet regalia of the Dragoons. In the briefest of togas, their "It's Clear that Medieval Art" number had the audience rocking with laughter.

To the terrific Dragoons we offer our grandest salute . . . and to the beautiful, lissome Rapturous Maidens, our bouquet.

The overall production of "Patience" was a triumph. The costume execution by Merle Huffman was just about perfect. Lighting by Don Gross enhanced the glamor of the evening's fare. And final honors must go to Frederick Schaad, the untiring talented pianist who from orchestration to finale was—the orchestra. Astonishing, but true, we never missed the other instruments!

"Patience" will play Friday, Saturday and Sunday evenings through June and early July.

The SUR COAST

sale. For a century the sprawling, history-filled land that covers many hundreds of acres of hills and canyons of the Santa Lucias, and from every vantage point looks out upon the magnificent coastal country, the Sur Valley and the sea, has been in the ownership of the Post family.

"It was a hard decision to make, to offer our property for sale," says Joseph William Post II, "but the time has come when we should take life a little easier. We'll only sell off a thousand acres on the east side of the highway. We'll be keeping a 160-acre parcel, on the west side, for Big Sur is our home. I could never leave here!"

Actually, it's only by chance that the Posts are here today, operating the big ranch, where cattle roam the hills, and along the highway there is the constant flow of tourists, neighbors, friends, to the restaurant, motel, and campground. Back in the 1860's pioneer grandfather, William Brainerd Post, came to Big Sur. He was a Connecticut boy who decided to come West by way of the Horn. After endless weeks at sea, the ship he had passage on put into a small port off Lower California. They were there many days and young Post and a friend, left the ship every day and hiked several miles to a little farm where they could get fresh milk, something they greatly missed on the long sea voyage. One day, when they returned to the port, they found the ship had sailed. Some time later another ship stopped at this port, and Post and his friend persuaded the captain to take them aboard. He agreed, if they promised to get off at the first port they reached which was to be San Francisco. Instead they put into Monterey, and as agreed, they got off. He loved the country and soon ventured south to Big Sur and staked his claim. There were 640 acres in the original homestead. After he was established word reached his family in the East and others came and took up claims too. At one time the Post holding included all of the area now known as Coastlands and south to, and including, the site of Nepenthe.

Included with the 1000 acre property is the picturesque and history-filled old family homestead—an unmistakable landmark on famed Highway One. The house was built in 1877 and its long history has served as home for the Posts, the first post office in Big Sur and as the mail stage stop.

City Gets ABC Funds

The state department of alcoholic beverage control has paid the City of Carmel $4,441. This is the municipality's share of fees paid during the past six months by holders of alcoholic beverage licenses in the business district. Ninety percent of all such fees are returned to the city.

A package store beer and wine license costs $37 with a yearly renewal fee of $12. A general tavern license costs $6,580 with an annual renewal fee of $580. A beer and wine only tavern license is $234 with a yearly renewal fee of $84.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth S. Walker arrive in Pebble Beach this week from La Jolla to make their permanent home. With them will be their daughter, Ann. Mrs. Walker is the daughter of S. F. B. Morse.

Parties for Graduates

Dr. and Mrs. Edmund W. von Hasseln and Mr. and Mrs. William McCaskey of Ojai will join forces Saturday to host a reception at the von Hasseln's Monterey home for graduating seniors of Santa Catalina School for Girls and their parents. Virginia von Hasseln and Joan McCaskey will receive their diplomas earlier that afternoon at graduation ceremonies at the School. "Ginny" will enter Bennett College in the Fall, while Joan will study at Mt. Vernon.

Mrs. Elmer James Zanetta and her daughter, Fidelia Zanetta, have invited a large group to the Beach Club for cocktails Saturday. Fidelia is also graduating that day from Catalina.

Lakys Tell of Trip

News of the three young Lakys, Ginger, Les and Mat, daughter and sons of the Les Lakys nearly always reads like a travelogue. Currently, Ginger is nearing the end of her year in Paris. She will be back in this country by the end of the month, visiting friends in New York City and in Washington D.C. A visit with her brother Les in Lorain, Ohio, will turn her steps westward. Les has been in Lorain for two years as an engineer with Lorain Products, Inc.

Ginger, who should arrive in Carmel early in July, plans to spend the balance of the summer here working in the Lakys Galleries. She will return to Paris in the autumn.

Mat, who has been studying architecture in Berkeley, will be on the Monterey Peninsula this summer, but only part of the time. He is looking forward to a trip to Mexico to study ancient art and structures.

M.P.V.S. Meeting

A "Summer Gifts" coffee hour will be the feature of the general membership meeting of the M.P.V.S. to be held tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock in the U.S.O., Monterey. Mrs. C. L. Underwood, hospitality chairman, will be assisted by Mrs. L. A. Scheuler and Mrs. Barry Jones.

Machine Age Gift

Michael Baxter of Carmel Valley was four last Sunday. Michael is the eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Baxter (Deirdre Carney) and Grandpa Robert Carney, just to be sure that his grandson would grow up in tempo with the machine age, presented young Michael with a shining metal tractor made entirely by his own skilful hands. To scale for a four-year-old, the tractor was promptly attached to Michael's tricycle.

Michael has two younger brothers, David, aged two and Howard, who is one year old. The birthday was celebrated in the Baxter home with Grandpa and Grandma Carney of Carmel the honor guests.

Two Graduates

The Roderick Wilsons will have two graduates in the family next week. Nicki will be awarded her diploma at Stanford University, where she majored in history, on June 14. She plans to return to Stanford in September for another year of study, working toward her M.A. degree and teaching credentials. Exuberant young Sherri will graduate from Carmel High School on June 12 and is already enrolled at the University of California, Santa Barbara.

Palo Alto-Carmel Commuter

In a whirl of last minute things to do, Janet, eldest daughter of the Ted Fehrigs, will come down from Palo Alto (she is a student teacher at Stanford University) on Monday night. She will return to the university campus on Wednesday, for her last few days before the term ends. Janet's marriage to Jerry Berg who will graduate from Stanford Law School next week, will take place in Carmel on June 13.

Splendid Entertainment

The current film at the Golden Bough Theater "Love With the Proper Stranger," starring Natalie Wood and Steve McQueen has won rave reviews from critics across the country. "One of the year's ten best" declares the Associated Press. "May emerge as the biggest sleeper hit since 'Marty' and 'Casablanca'" reports Newsweek magazine.

Champagne Party

One of the most convivial champagne parties of the year was given yesterday afternoon by Werner Kalmus and Walter Becker, an invitational preview at the new restaurant, the Marquis, in the brand new Fonseca motel at San Carlos and Fourth. Several hundred guests enjoyed the lavish buffet and sparkling vintage in the restaurant's beautiful regency rooms. Festivities began at five o'clock and at ten o'clock the happy crowds were still crossing the threshold of what promises to be one of Carmel's most elegant rendezvous. Walter Becker is no stranger to Carmel gourmets, his "Sans Souci" on Lincoln street has established popularity with the knowing.

Real Estate

Real Estate

CONSIDER A "CAREER HOME" — IT WORKS FOR YOU. A "career home" gives you a lovely place to live and lets the rentable portion take care of your own "rent" plus building a nice equity plus giving you some spendable income and tax advantages. For example:

1. LOVELY FOUR UNITS IN CARMEL VALLEY. Nearly new, and all units have sweeping views of the mountains. This is a handsome, beautifully built structure with 2-bedroom, 2-bath carpeted units, completely modern kitchens. Three units are leased. The owners live in the loveliest unit of all, and enjoy in addition to the Valley sunshine, their own rent free, building an equity in a trouble-free property, and having some spending money besides. Price $89,500. Some misty day, drive out with us to see this.

2. HOME AND INCOME IN CARMEL. Just a few blocks from the Village you can have a well-planned home of your own plus three room rentals—and all this in a young house on a corner lot for just $36,500. The living room of your own home will be spacious and pleasant with hardwood floors, fireplace, and central heat. Your kitchen is efficient and attractive. Your own bedroom and the living room have ocean views. The rooms available for rentals are in another wing with their own entrance, and they are light, airy, comfortable rooms. Plan to investigate this property very soon and take advantage of the coming summer season.

3. 13 UNITS NEAR THE NAVAL POSTGRADUATE SCHOOL. Probably one of the handsomest apartment houses in Monterey, and located only a few blocks from the Navy School which, as you probably read last week, is due to expand to almost double its present size by 1969. This is prime property and a wonderful situation for a retiring couple who wants a beautiful home and something to do with their time which will be easy, interesting and productive. One and two bedroom apartments, fireplaces, carpets, drapes, electric kitchens. Fascinating mountain and harbor view and individual sun decks from which to enjoy them. Nearly new, excellent return, high depreciation factor. Ask for our photo brochure on these units.

San Jose area and escaped police after a gun battle in Morgan Hill.

He admitted to Carmel police that he took a bus to Monterey and another to Carmel. Yesterday at 1:45 p.m. the manager of the Sprouse-Reitz store told Carmel police a young man had tried to hold up a cashier, Mrs. Eula Schwartz.

According to her report, the youth came up to her and handed her a note which read,

"Loaded gun in my pocket. Put bills from register in bag quickly."

At this moment a friend spoke to her. Clarke panicked and fled west on Ocean Avenue.

Police combed the business district for a young man wearing a dark suit, white shirt and glasses.

At 3:40 p.m., Russ Harris, clerk in the Derek Rayne store opposite the library, phoned police to say he had been held up ten minutes before by a man in dark sports clothes, shirt and necktie. The bandit, he reported, poked a gun into his ribs and said, "Don't say a word. Fill this bag."

Harris took $159 and a ten-dollar IOU signed "Clive" from the register and put them in the bag.

Two men in the store, Bastien van Woerkom and David Roman, at first, were unaware of what was going on. Bastien heard the youth ask Harris to show him a sports coat. Roman saw Harris fill the bag and return it to the young man.

At this point, both von Woerkom and Roman approached Harris. The bandit then took a gun out of his pocket and ordered the three of them into the back office. Harris went into the ladies' section of the shop and phoned police.

Chief Clyde Klaumann and Sergeant Bob Fischer responded. Traffic Officer Ed Fischer was ordered to check the library.

Fischer asked the librarian at the desk if she had seen a young man answering the description given by Harris. She said she had but that he had left. Mrs. Mildred Ricciardi, a library patron, told Fischer such a young man was in the main reading room and she had seen him change from a coat to a sweater and remove his tie. Fischer found the young man, Clarke, by the fireplace and asked him if he'd mind stepping outside.

"What do you want me for," the suspect asked and went to the west corner of the room and picked up a paper bag. Fischer undid his gun holster, then grabbed the bag.

He next walked Clarke out of the room past the desk and into the unoccupied children's section.

As Fischer attempted to handcuff Clarke, the latter pretended to stumble, tried to retrieve the bag, then grabbed Fischer's gun from the open holster as the two struggled.

"I'm going to kill you," Clarke shouted. Steele and Hull, who were in the library, came to Fischer's assistance and helped him subdue the bandit. At this point, Chief Klaumann and Sergeant Bob Fischer arrived in answer to a call screamed into the direct line from the library to the police station by Librarian Gertrude Rayne. The gun went off in the scuffle.

Outside the library, Derek Rayne and Harris identified Clarke and he was taken to the police station where Mrs. Schwartz also identified him. When he was searched, a full clip of ammunition was found in one of his pockets. In the paper bag he had tried to wrest from Fischer were a .380 automatic pistol, loaded and cocked, also a charcoal sports coat. In a smaller bag was $159 and the IOU signed "Clive."

At the police station Clarke admitted verbally to entering the two Ocean Avenue stores, also others in San Jose, Belmont, El Cerrito, Fresno and Los Angeles.

Malcolm Steele, a retired resident, and Arthur Hull, a former city councilman who teaches at Carmel Junior High School, were commended by Mayor Herbert Blanks for their part in the apprehension of the bandit.

"Brave citizens who risked their lives to keep peace in our community," were the words in which he praised them at the council meeting last night.

"I Was Always Sure Pierre Would Win!"

Still jubilant and smiling radiantly, Pierre Salinger's mother Mrs. Jehanne Carlson, was back in her Carmel home yesterday after sharing her son's victory celebration on Tuesday night.

"The Gold Room at the Fairmont in San Francisco was, on election night, the scene of victory. I suppose it sounds 'just like most mothers,' but I do want to say it. Pierre isn't just my son, he is a fine man all the way through and he will perform a dedicated job for California."

To Discuss Juvenile Delinquency June 15

Mayor Herbert Blanks has called a meeting of the committee he has appointed to combat juvenile delinquency in the Carmel area for June 15, 4 p.m., in city hall. The group will discuss whether or not we have a delinquency problem, and if so, what is it; also explore the causes of delinquency and what can be done about it.

Members of the committee are Mayor Blanks; Police Chief Clyde Klaumann; Monterey County Sheriff Jack Davenport; Judge Eugene Harrah (Monterey-Carmel judicial district); Chester V. Lewis (sociology); Carmel Police Commissioner James Buffington; Dr. Robert E. Newton, chairman of the Carmel Unified School District; Warren Edwards, Carmel High School principal; Dan Yurkovich, junior high school counselor; Cmdr. William C. Stowers, president of the high school Parents Club; Henry Newman, president of the Valedictorian of the Carmel High School Class of 1964 is Stephen Arnon, the son of Dr. and Mrs. I. Arnon of Berkeley. Last year the Arnon family lived in Carmel while Dr. Arnon was on sabbatical leave from the University of California where he is head of the Department of cell physiology.

Steve so liked Carmel High that he obtained his parents' permission to complete his secondary education here. Next year he will attend Harvard University.

CHS Commencement First On Campus

The Class of 1964 at Carmel High will be the 24th to graduate from the school and the first to attend commencement exercises on the campus.

Outdoor graduation exercises will take place on Bardarson Field at 6 p.m. on June 12. The 229 graduates, clad in dark blue caps and gowns, will march from the gymnasium down the central aisle of the grandstand to the Pomp and Circumstance procession, then be seated in six arcs on the football field facing the audience for the ceremonies.

They will be preceded by Jay Lang, present student body president, and Clyn Smith III, president-elect, carrying the flags of the United States and the State of California. These flags will flank the graduates during the exercises. Background for the class will be the hills of Carmel Valley, the ocean and Point Lobos.

The invocation will be given by the Reverend Hunter Hall, D.D. and be followed by the Salute to the Flag led by Thomas Poulos and singing of the "Star Spangled Banner."

James Purvis will be salutatorian. Matthew Little, president of the Class of 1964 will present the class gift to the school. Stephen Arnon will deliver the valedictory.

Following this, Principal Warren Edwards will present the class and Superintendent Medill Bair will announce Gold C winners.

Clayton Neil, Jr., member of the board of education of the Carmel Unified School District, will award diplomas. The benediction will be given by Dr. Hall.

The graduates will march up the steps to Fanfare and Recessional. Both the procession and the recessional will be played by the Carmel High School Band.

An informal reception for students, parents and friends will be held on the lawn above Bardarson Field at the end of the commencement exercises.

Symphony Association Annual Meeting

The annual membership meeting of the Monterey County Symphony Association is scheduled to take place in the community hall at Carmel Ranch Shopping Center on June 10 at 8 p.m.

Election of officers and board members will top the order of business. Also scheduled on the agenda is the presentation of final committee reports for the current season and appointment of 1964-65 committee chairmen. Proposed plans for the 1964-65 season will also be discussed.

Members of the board will meet briefly at the conclusion of the general meeting.

'Give Forest Theater College Try . . Woof!'

in Monterey where he has been producing plays.

"Keep the Forest Theater active," he urged.

A small dog in the audience gave a woof of approval.

"G-r-r-r-r," went the terrier.

The Mayor asked Chief Klaumann to remove the dog. In quiet, the council decided to consider restoration of the municipal theater again next week.

The council also gave first reading to an anti-litter ordinance. This law, if passed, will prohibit any accumulation of garbage, waste and disused machinery on private property at least if any of this, including old household appliances, is visible from adjacent property or the public view.

Other action included authorizing issuance of municipal bonds which will be offered for sale in order to finance the $575,000 purchase of Sunset

Election Results

Tom Hudson was re-elected to the Monterey County Board of Supervisors from this district on Tuesday. Incumbent Burt Talcott, 12th Congressional District, won the Republican nomination, Sanford H. Boiz, the Democratic; State Senator Fred Farr (D-Carmel) will oppose Republican Steve Magyar in November; Republican Assemblyman Alan G. Pattee will contest his seat with Democrat Irby B. Bourriague.

School; authorization of the Bank of America as the city's paying agent for the bonds; approval of an audit of the new and former building inspectors' books; denial of a business license to Fine Arts Gallery of Scottsdale, an art auction business; employment for the summer of Dick Lawitzke in the police department; adoption of the new electrical code for the city.

In the Civil War, the sons of Presidents Tyler and Taylor served for the South and President Jackson's son served for the Union.
